

Access to Justice for the Most Marginalized

SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE

“Human rights and access to justice for the most marginalized communities - theory and practice”

Ohrid, Republic of North Macedonia

18 – 19 May, 2023 Ohrid, North Macedonia and online.

Submission e-mail: conference.a2j@gmail.com

Foundation Open Society - Macedonia, Association LET STATION and HOPS – Healthy Options Project Skopje, in partnership with the Institute for Research and European Studies – Bitola and in collaboration with Faculty of Law, University “St. Kliment Ohridski” – Bitola announce the Call for Papers to be presented at the Conference.

The Conference is aimed at presenting and discussing the issues and obstacles in access to justice that marginalized communities face, as well as share best practices and lessons learned in realization of human rights from both theoretical as well as practical aspect.

We are pleased to invite the prospective authors to electronically submit their papers in English to: conference.a2j@gmail.com

Conference Overview:

The Republic of North Macedonia as many other democratic countries is declaratively dedicated to improving equal access to justice (A2J) as well as promoting and protecting human rights, emphasizing rights of the most marginalized and vulnerable communities (smaller ethnic communities, people living in rural areas, people and families who live in poverty, people who use drugs, sex workers and others). Still, despite the dedication of the country, majority of the people from marginalized groups face human rights violations and restricted A2J. The pandemic of COVID– 19, but also the post-pandemic consequences, as well as the war in Ukraine and the energy and food crisis brought many challenges, jeopardizing health, social, and other human rights, as well as causing unforeseeable economic and social consequences. These consequences especially affected poor and marginalized communities.

These crises resulted in additional burden on already vulnerable and poor socio-economic status of marginalized people. Starting from basic health and social rights, to labor and housing as well as personal documentation and civil status, many communities face injustices on a daily level.

Access to Justice for the Most Marginalized

On the other side there are many individuals, groups and organizations who have dedicated significant effort in improving these situations from both theoretical as well as practical aspect. Sharing examples, experiences, and discussing the current issues these communities face as well as elaborating positive approaches taken by different stakeholders is of crucial importance for development and advancement of human rights and improving the access to justice for all.
